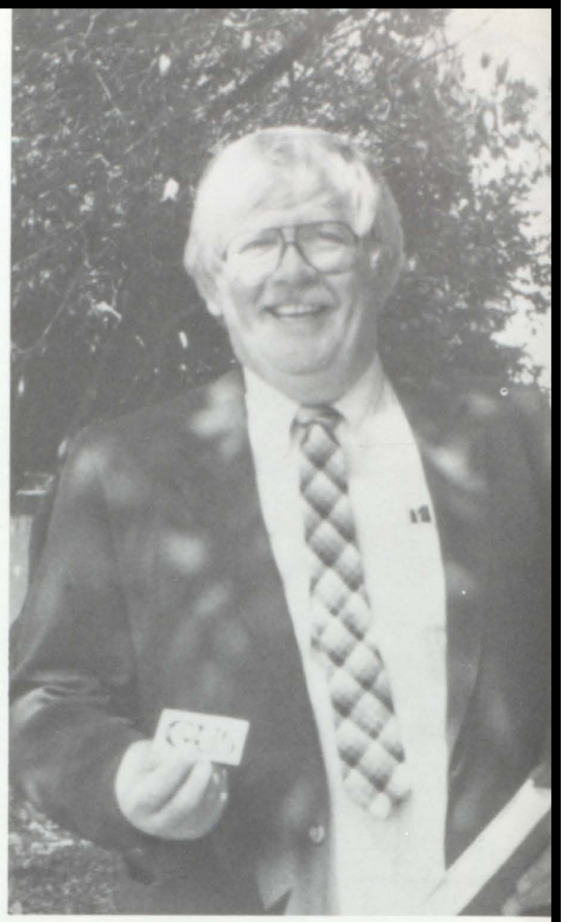
WASHINGTON RALLYS

To Celebrate An Anniversary

Spirit and Sport



Washington High School started the school year off with a bang by holding an all school rally outside in front of the old building to celebrate the 200th anniversary of our country's constitution. Fremont Mayor, Gus Morrison, spoke to the crowd of students about the importance of the freedom we have in the U.S. and never losing sight of the rights the constitution gives us. The W.H.S. band and choir also performed and the 1987-88 ASB officers were introduced.

The 1987-88 rally squad did a great job with sports rallies this year with games and cheers to help build spirit for our Husky athletes.

Spirit week always proves to hold the biggest and best rallys of the year as classes stand off against each other to show their spirit and pride. The classes did a fantastic job this year with their skits.

In December, motivational speaker, Roger Crawford, a physically challenged person, sent us his message about keeping a positive attitude and setting goals and meeting them.

(left) Fremont Mayor, Gus Morrison, spoke at the rally to honor the 200th anniversary of our constitution. He felt it was of special importance that Washington H.S. would honor the constitution considering the school's long history.

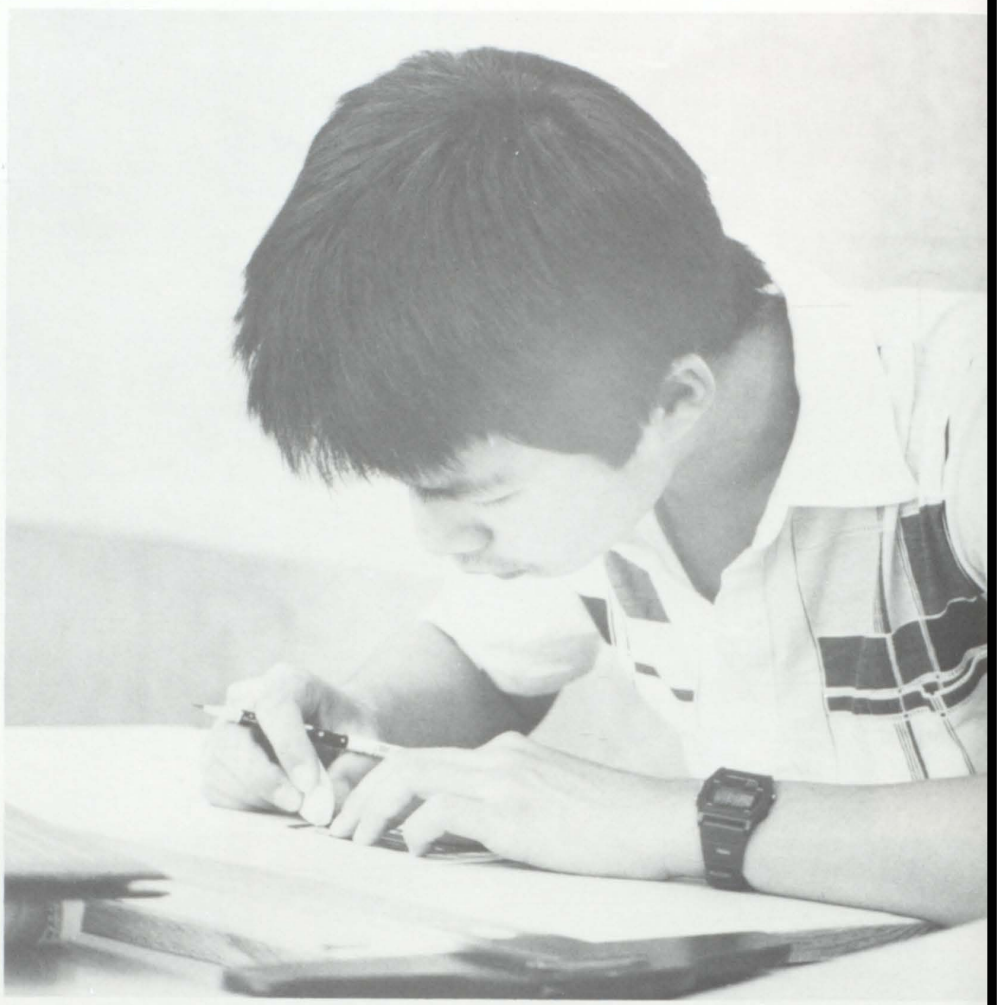
(left) Roger Crawford expressed his positive attitude and determination to the students of Washington High last December. Roger, despite his physical challenges, is now a professional tennis player and also speaks to groups all across the country.

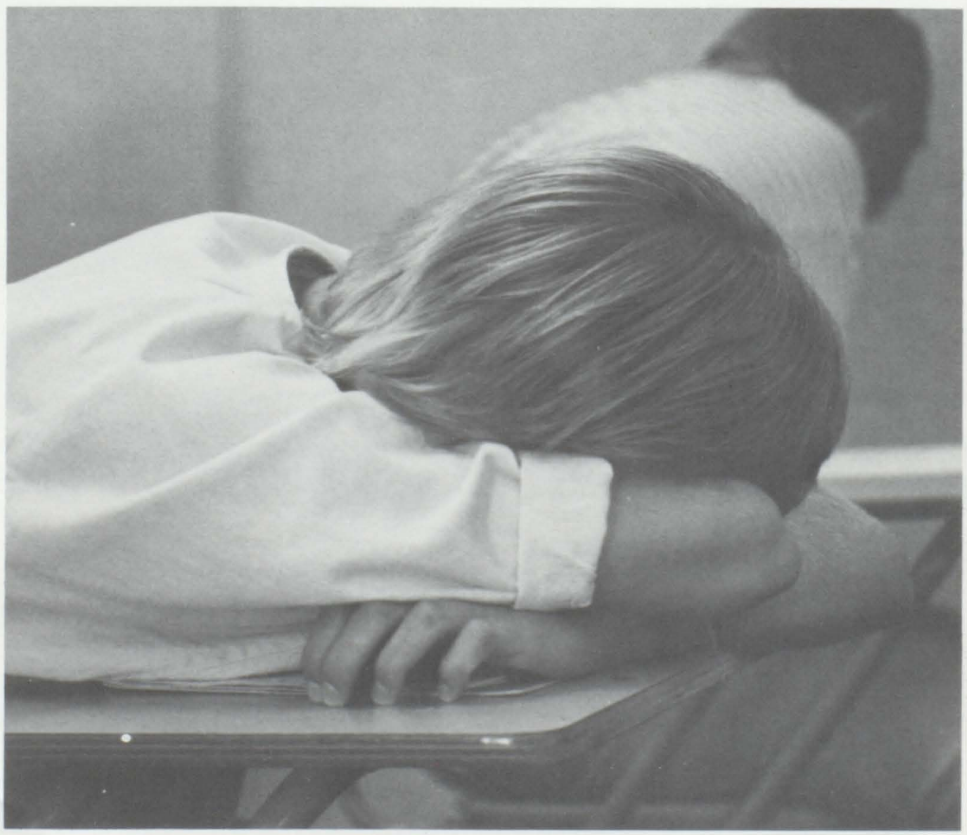
Spirit Week is always one of the most colorful times of year along with providing us with many fabulous rallys to help boost school moral and spirit.

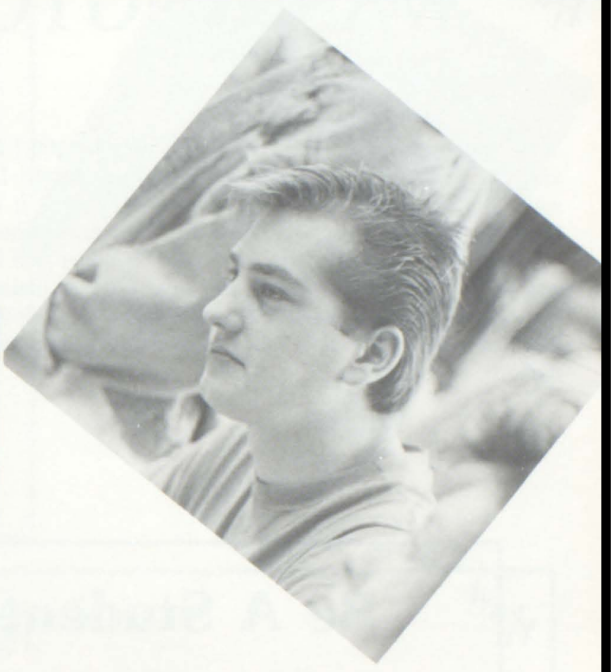
10 STEPS

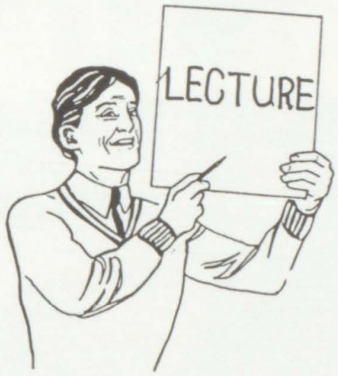
To Pass A Class

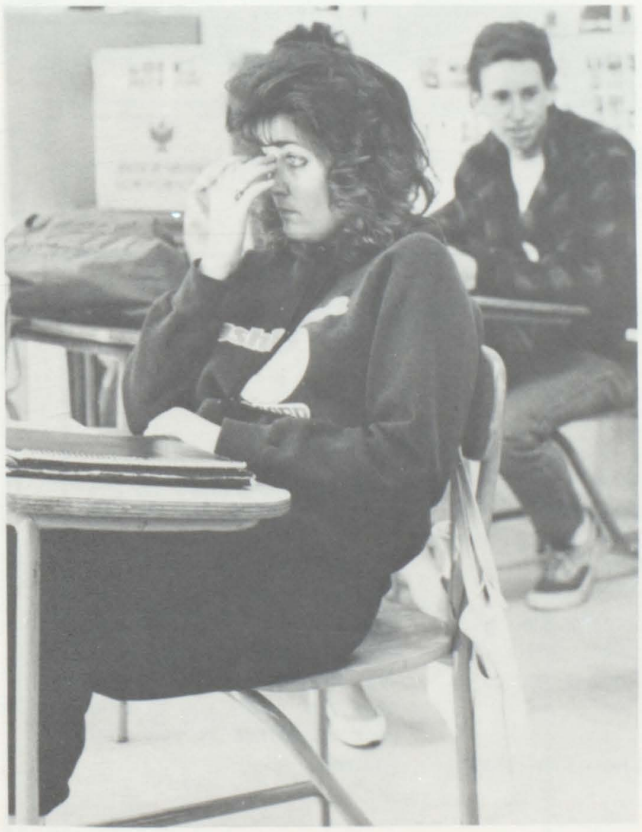
- The most successful, though least preferred, Study.
- Pay attention and get involved in class. Who knows, maybe it'll even be interesting.
- Worm the homework assignment off someone else in class.
- Do your own homework. Everyone else has to have someone to worm it off of.
- For those classes that you actually enjoy and would like to pass but just can't get a handle on, get a tutor.
- Get to know your teachers real well. A little brown-nosing never hurts.
- For those English projects, make a date with everyone's favorite guy, Mr. Cliff(notes).
- Find a friend who had the class the year before and borrow their old papers.
- Let your money talk.
- Break into the school's computer and access your file, then discreetly, and illegally, push a few buttons.











What To Do During A Boring Lecture

1. DOODLE- This is something we can all do. Even those of us with no artistic ability. All it takes is a pencil and paper (or a desk), your imagination takes it from there.
2. DAYDREAM- We all have somewhere we'd rather be than sitting in class. Just let your mind wander to those places . . . those tropical places . . . with palm trees, an endless white beach stretching out in front of you. The setting sun reflects off the waves as they crash upon the coral reef. You and your handsome companion . . . ahem . . . sorry. Well, you get the idea.
3. SLEEP- That hour of sleep you lost doing a paper for the class you're now stuck in can be made up now.
4. WRITE A NOTE- That girl or boy who keeps complaining because you never write them back can now be satisfied.
5. HOMEWORK- It's a great time to get some homework done from the class you're in or another. Remember what your teachers always say, make the best use of your time.
6. COMTEMPLATE- Comtemplate those baffling questions of life such as: Which came first-the chicken or the egg? Where is Jimmy Hoffa? Is there intelligent life elsewhere in the universe? Or let your mind be blown away by considering that you are just a spect of dust on the earth, the earth is just a spec of dust in the universe, and the universe is just a spec of dust in the vast area we call space.
7. IF ALL ELSE FAILS- If all else fails, you could pay attention. There are those days, once every few years, when your mind just doesn't want to wander. Well, this condition isn't fatal, it just means you're running the risk of learning something.

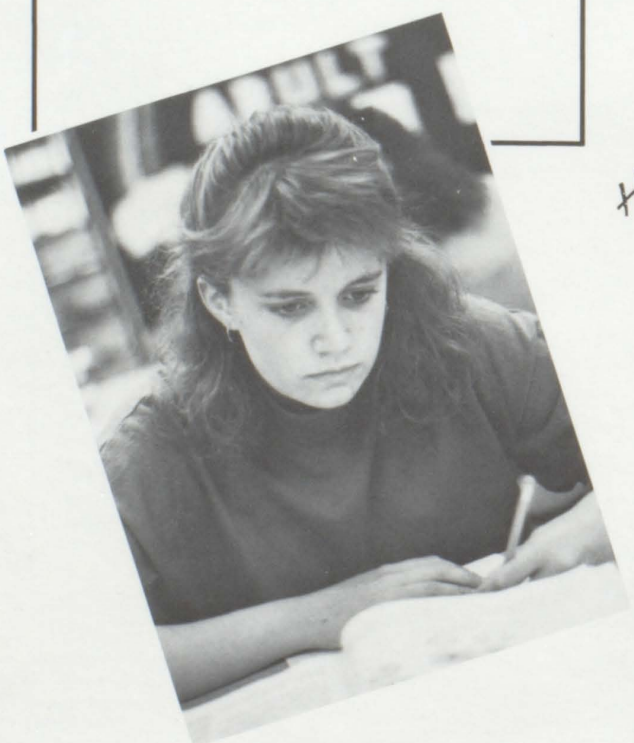
How To WASHINGTON

Some might ask what's so special about Washington? Is it the variety of people you can find here at Washington? Is it the spirit shown by all the huskies here at school? Is it the laid back, easy going atmosphere here? Is it that person who flashes you a smile as you walk down the hall? Is it the rich heritage and pride created over Washington's near 100 year history? Yes. It is all of these things and more. It is every student, every athlete, every husky. It is You that makes Washington so special.

How To Be A Student

To be a student takes:

- Studying and Working- Studying and working to obtain knowledge as you work towards a goal.
- Caring- Anyone can go to school and go through the moves. A student is someone who cares about learning.
- Striving- Striving to be the best that you can be. Striving for the knowledge that will get you there.
- Desire- You have to have the desire to learn. A desire that motivates and drives you to achieve your goals.



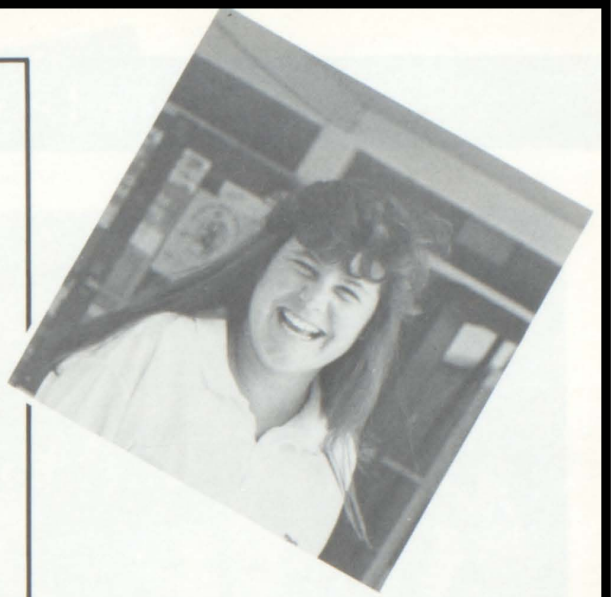
How To Be An Athlete

To be an athlete takes:

- Dedication- A great dedication of your time and your energy. Anything less is not enough.
- Motivation- Motivation to push yourself beyond your limits. The motivation that pushes you to go that extra mile.
- A Goal- You must have something to shoot for. A goal to provide you with the motivation to get you there.
- Determination- Determination that will continue to push you. A determination that makes you get right back up into the game when you fall. -Aggressiveness- An aggressiveness that helps you to challenge your opponenet as you challenge yourself.

How To

Be A Husky



To be a Husky takes:

- Spirit- Spirit is that feeling inside you. It's a style. Vivacity. An enthusiastic loyalty which can only be formed over time.

- Pride- Pride in your school. Pride in your name. Pride in the orange and black. An attitude which makes you feel like #1.

- Unity- The dictionary says the quality of being in one spirit. Unity is that which brings together all those with the husky spirit. It makes the school one.

How To

Be YOU!

To be you takes:

No one can tell you how to be you. Only you know how. To be you means not being someone else. Being proud enough of yourself and liking yourself enough to let people see who you are. You can't put up a front, a wall, an act. You can't try to be what others want you to be or what you think they want you to be. Being you means being an original, not a copy. Being you means being a student or an athlete or a husky. Being you means being what ever makes you happy.

Alma Mater

To thee our Alma Mater

Our hearts will ere turn back

We rally round the banner

The orange and the black

The light of truth and knowledge

Forever will prevail

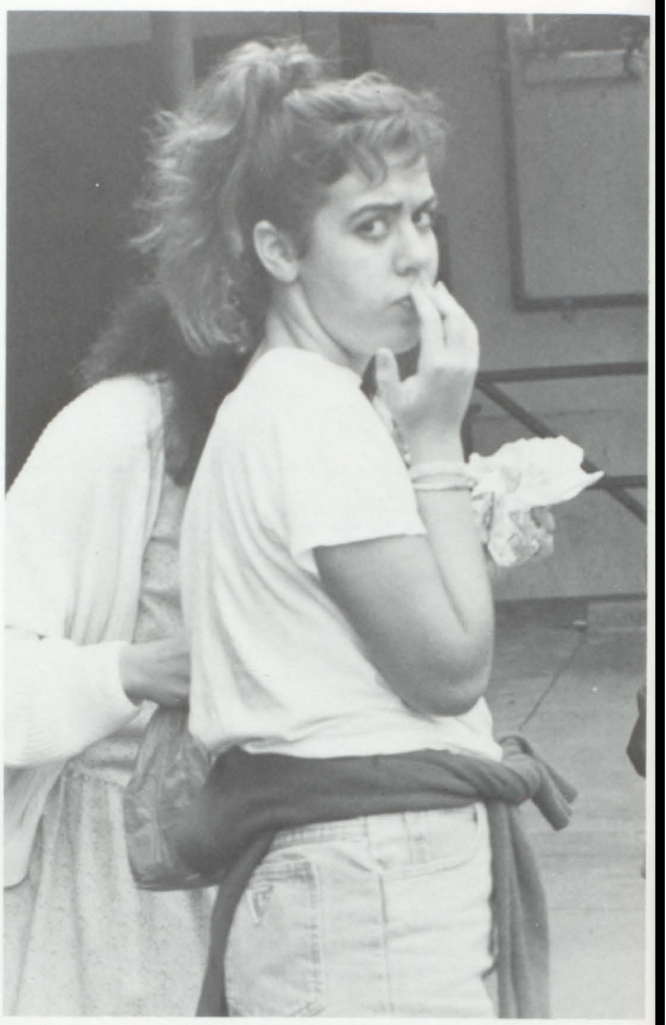
Oh Washington we love you

All hail, All hail

THE ALMA MATER

A Fading Symbol of Washington

The words on the left should be familiar to all the students at Washington High. Yet many spend four years here and never once hear them sung. These are the words of our Alma Mater, our school song. At one time, it was sung at rallies, at sporting events. It was a symbol of pride and spirit for the school. Today, however, though some places still uphold this tradition, Washington does not. It is a symbol of our school which has gradually faded away. Today only a handfull can tell you the words. Some are even oblivious to its existance. Maybe someday the usage of the song will come back into style here at Washington. For now it lingers only as a fading symbol.



LUNCH!

The Best Class of the Whole Day!

It is not going too far out on a limb to safely say that lunch is everyone's favorite subject at school. Lunch is a time to relax, soak up some rays, be with friends and EAT! And eat we do here at Washington. We have a wide array of choices to choose from. The carefully planned meals available in the cafeteria from the ever plesant hostesses is enough to please the most finicky eaters. You might care to begin your meal with a salad from the delicious, fresh salad bar. These choices, though widely popular, cannot hold a candle to what the snack bar has to offer in the junk-food junkies eyes. Potato chips, cookies, twinkies, crumb cakes, candy, sandwiches, hot dogs, and of course, pizza. If through all these choices your taste buds are not satisfyed, don't dispair. The selection grows still further as you explore the menus of the near by fast food restaurants. You're still not content? Well never fear, there's still one choice left. Brown bag it.

friends-sun- lunch fun

FREMONT

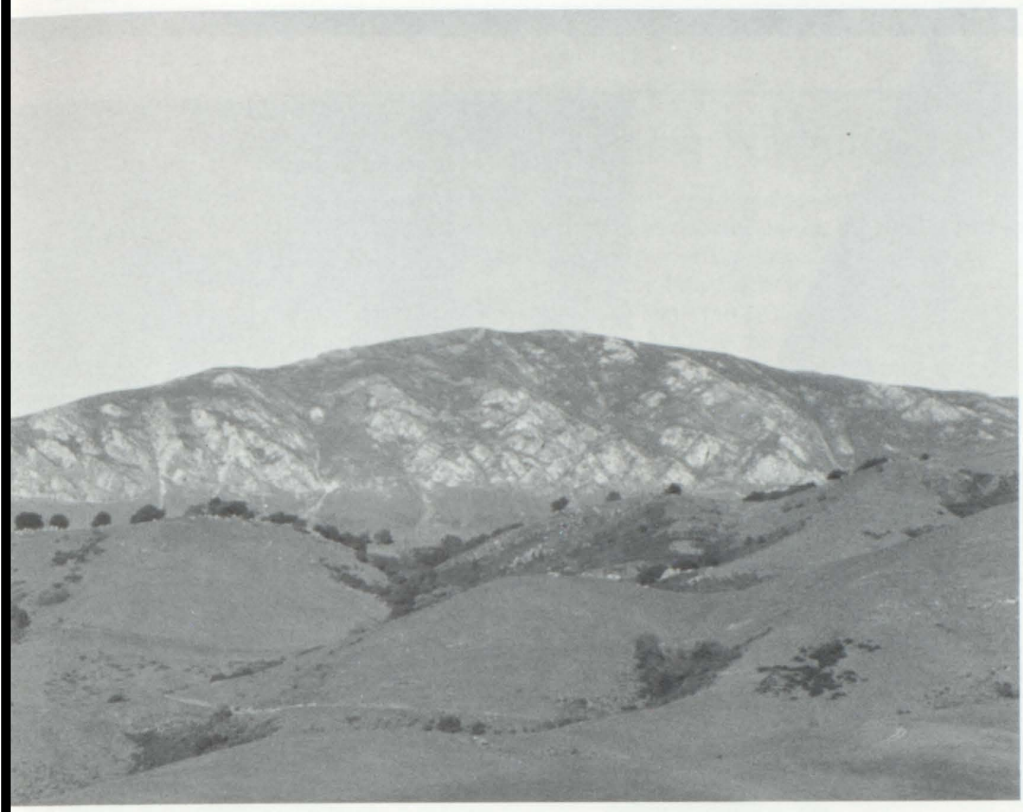
Scratch the Surface and See What's Underneath

Fremont, home sweet home. And what many teenagers would just possibly label the most boring place anywhere. Come on, Fremont has to have some redeeming qualities aside from being home to the second oldest high school in California (hmm, I wonder what that is). No? Well, let's just take a closer look.

If there's one thing to do on the weekends in Fremont, it's go to the movies. The vast number of movie theatres found here in Fremont may have something to do with the cities past history as the original sight of the now Southern based Hollywood. It's a well known fact that Charlie Chaplin made many of his movies in what is now our own Niles District. How many of you have ever been through Mission San Jose. It might be a choice if you have a few spare moments on a Sunday or Saturday. Maybe You want to get away from it all and just relax. Look no further than Lake Elizabeth. You can sail, windsurf, or get a game of football together. Whatever you decide to do don't forget to bring along a lunch for you and a loaf of bread for the ducks. If the park isn't close enough to nature for you, go climb a rock. More specifically Mission Peak. The view from the top is a sight ot behold.

Okay, okay. You say you've exhausted all these possibilities. Then get out of Fremont. We have an ideal location here close to everything. Drive an hour and visit the Boardwalk at Santa Cruz.

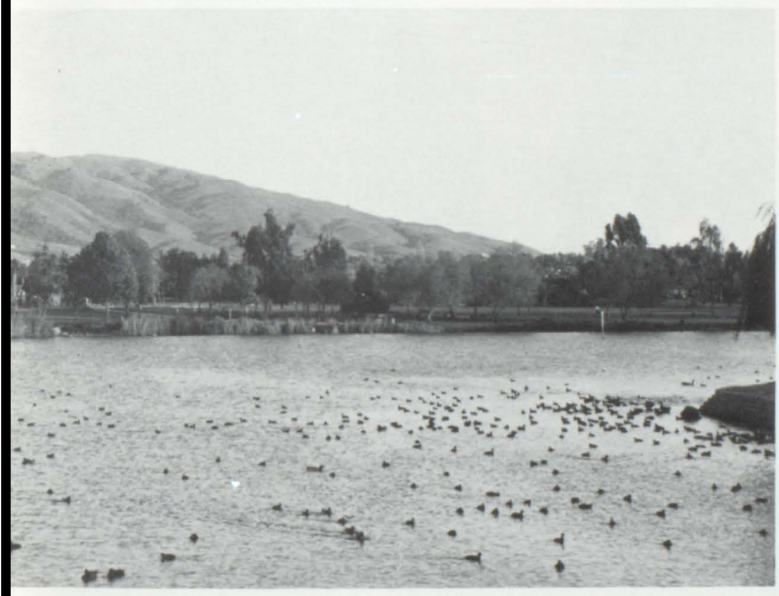
Great America is only 20 minutes away. And within 40 minutes you can be in San Francisco or Berkeley, either of which holds endless possibilities for your entertainment. You don't have a driver's license? Well, I'm happy to say, that's no excuse. Fremont isn't referred to as the end of the BART line for nothing.



(opposite, top) Mission San Jose is one of the original 20 missions that was established by the Franciscans here in California.

The majestic Mission Peak over looks Fremont and is open to anyone who might want to face up to the challenge and climb her. It's a great place to catch the sunrise.

The Niles District of Fremont has the honor of being called the first Hollywood. It was here that Charlie Chaplin made many of his movies.

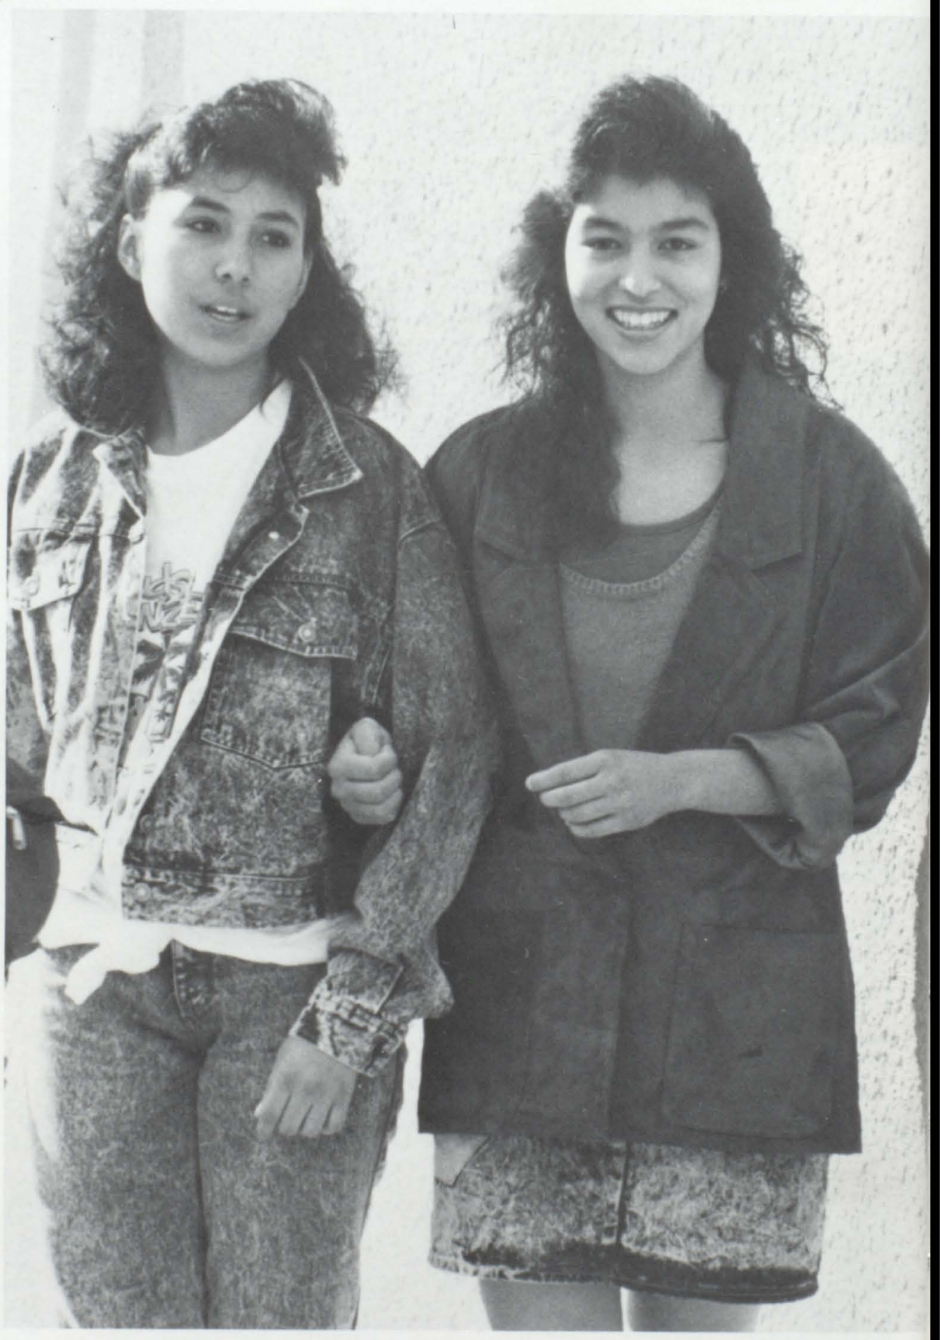


If you're ever asked where Fremont is just say "It's at the end of the BART line." This train system can take you to some of the most interesting places in the Bay Area.

Lake Elizabeth is Fremont's answer to Central Park. Check it out for a bike ride, picnic, or let the little kid in you come out and take a turn on the swings.

Fremont may seem like a small town, but it's actually the third largest city in California in terms of area.

(opposite, far left) It's a little known fact that the original sight for Stanford University was right here in Fremont. What better substitute than or own Ohlone College.



FRESHMEN! The call rings out echoing thru the gym. This is the nightmare of the shower bell.

An Echoing Nightmare

You sit in the north gym bleachers talking excitedly about the year ahead. Unsuspecting are you of the humiliation you are about to suffer. A bell rings and you stand up to leave the gym FRESHMEN! The call echos thru the gym. You try to play it off as though you were stretching. You have been the innocent victim of the shower bell.

IT'S FRESH!

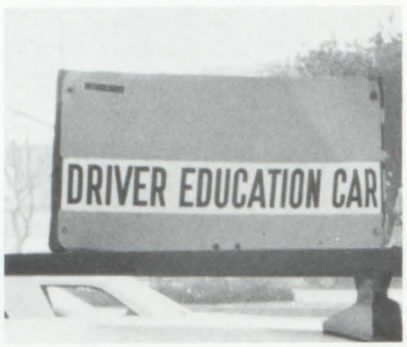
The Price You Have To Pay

As a freshman, you're the new kid on the block. Subsequently, you're also the easiest victim of the sometimes cruel jokes which can be played by those who are older than you. Every year, the incoming class has to keep a constant watch out of the side of their eye at lunch for projectiles being aimed at them such as half eaten hot dogs or candy wrappers. Freshmen athletes are hunted down on the days they have games and heaven forbid the varsity players should catch you without a tie. The word Freshmen becomes a dirty one to those who wear it with them for a year. Spirit week can be a nightmare as you work feverishly to get you skit together only to be given the inevitable fourth place. You suffer the persecution silently, all the time planning for when you're a sophomore and have the chance to do it to someone else.

FRESHMAN (pl freshmen) 1. a first year high school student 2. the unfortunate few at whom jokes and pranks are pointed at as they try to fit in. :see also Class of 1991

CAUTION: Sophomores in training

What is the one thing you want as a sophomore more than anything A driver's license. That magical piece of lamenated paper with your picture on it that unlocks the door to a world of freedoms for you and headaches for your parents. You find yourself in the back seat of a car hiding your face and hoping you don't see anyone you know as you ride around with what seems like a 4 foot high flashing neon sign reading "student driver on board" on top of the car. Is this humiliation worth it? You better believe it.



You have to drive around with a 4 foot high flashing neon sign on the car reading "student driver on board".

The inbetween life of a tweener

All through your adolesent years, there is the frustration of not knowing whether you're a child or an adult. This can be more apparent your sophomore year than any other. You've made it through the uncertainty of your freshmen year, having matured somewhat, and can no longer be put into a category with them. But you're not at the point yet where you enjoy the same activities of the upper classmen. Because of your inbetween position, you can be appropriately labeled a "tweener".

It is during this inbetween period that you seem to sprout up. Coming into high school, the seniors seemed to be 25 and you were 3. The gap between you and those above you begins to lessen as you "sprout" not only physically but also mentally. You feel frustrated as you long for more freedom and independence . . . and to be an upper classmen. The need to be considered a young, responsible teenager over that of a naive, troublesome pre-teen is overwhelming.

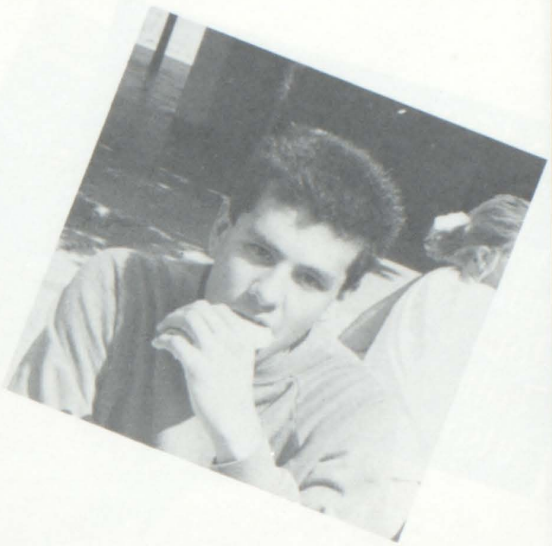
The Sweet Smell of Success

Sophomore year marks the peak of your science career. This is the year of the science experiment that will stay with you the rest of your life (or at least the smell will). Yes, it's infusions! "The smell seems to stay with you when you leave the lab," said Gia Solari. A lucky few hear the immortal words of beloved biologist Mr. Zlatnik "You've got a rotofer!" Ahh, the sweet smell of success at your discovery. (That's not what I smell!)

JUNIOR (junyer): 1. a third year student in high school 2. One who dreams of 670 verbal and 720 math scores 3. is susceptible to the disease Junioritis :see also Class of 1989

JUNIORITUS-So Close, Yet So Far



As the days grow longer and winter gives way to the warmer days of spring, a curious disease sweeps over the land. Senioritus. This is the well known ailment which affects teens who are in their final year of high school. A not so publicized, yet more frustrating cousin to the disease is Junioritus. This carries with it many of the same symptoms: a disinterest in school and homework, a constant ringing in the ears which seems to be the beach calling out to you, and a basic feeling of laziness. It becomes almost physically impossible to open your backpack or lift a pencil. With senioritus comes a carefree, laid-back feeling as you see the finish line in the distance and are over taken by the feeling that it just doesn't matter anymore. You begin to laugh as another deadline for a class passes and only one fourth of the class has turned it in. On the other side of the coin is the not so laughable disease, junioritus. As a junior, the importance of grades hangs over your head like a dark cloud. But you can't give up.

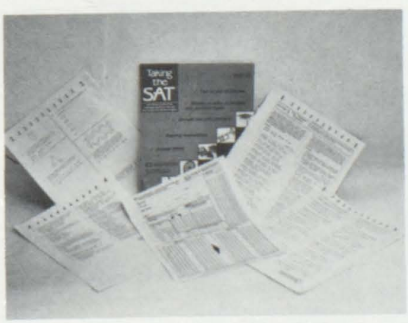
CAUTION-THIS IS ONLY A TEST



As your junior year begins to wind down, you experience the excitement of activities like the junior prom and anxiously await the arrival of your senior year. Along with these little perks also comes a not so exciting event; tackling the SAT's. It will be the first time the majority of these people attempt this test. The SAT is a high stress experience. I Remeber Like It Was Yesterday

As every member of the Class of 88 thinks back on the past four years, they are flooded by waves of memories which come crashing back. Happy times, sad times, confusing times, good, fantastic, incredible, unforgettable times. Every memory is one which they will always remember just like it was yesterday . . .

Lori Holding: "Playing basketball in the Oakland Coliseum and winning NCS."

Steve Emerson: "Having my "business" fall out of my shorts while running 90's at summer workouts."

Tricia Wallace: "Everything about Spirit Week our Senior year."

Andrew Pierce: "Close up and being recognized by my peers at homecoming."

Kim Moates: "Homecoming 87 when the microphone broke as I was being driven around the field at the game."

Michelle Richards: "Slipping on a burrito in the main hallway and being laughed at by everyone and being kidnapped by a bunch of American football players while in the Hank costume at a rally squad carwash."

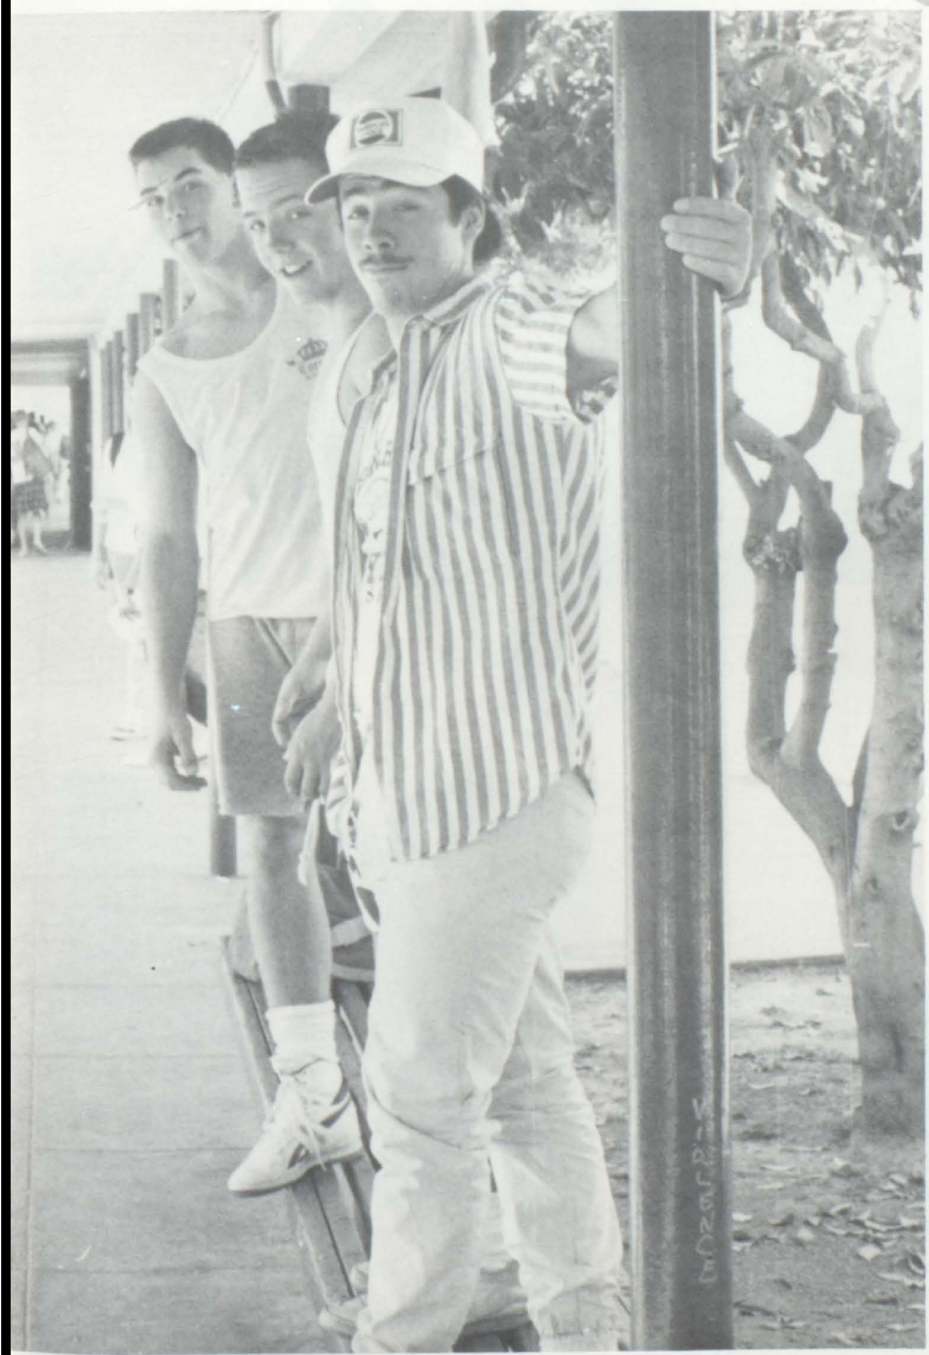
It's just a matter of applying yourself

November 30. This was the UC priority deadline for applications. And it was only the first of many to be met and put off until the last minute. There is no greater hassle or headache than filling out the endless pages of your scholastic history and the essays you must write attempting to fit your life history into 500 words or less. Then you pay someone to read it and decide your future. More stressful than that is running to the mailbox everyday hoping to find the fat envelope with the word "Congratulations!"

"You write a book about yourself and then pay someone to read it and decide your future."



Summer of Change Year of Friendship

There's an amazing transformation that takes place every summer. It doesn't effect every one, only those teenagers who have just completed their junior year and are embarking on the exciting journey thru their senior year in high school. Though the summer may not be an especially eventful one, for those who fall into the soon-to-be-senior category, it does mean an incredible metamorphosis will take place. It's not visible or noticable while it's happening but during those three months, these young people age three years in looks and mature by five. Or, so it seems.

Ask anyone in the senior class of 1988 and they will admit to this. At no time in our class' history until this past year were we as pulled together as a whole. We were friends. Not just some of us, but us all. We finally began to show signs of growing up.

Perhaps no one has been able to describe it better than Andrew Butler in his speech at the senior breakfast. Andrew explained how the past few years, we've been looking only at the way in which the lights were shining on us. This past year we've been able to see how the lights were shining from each of us.

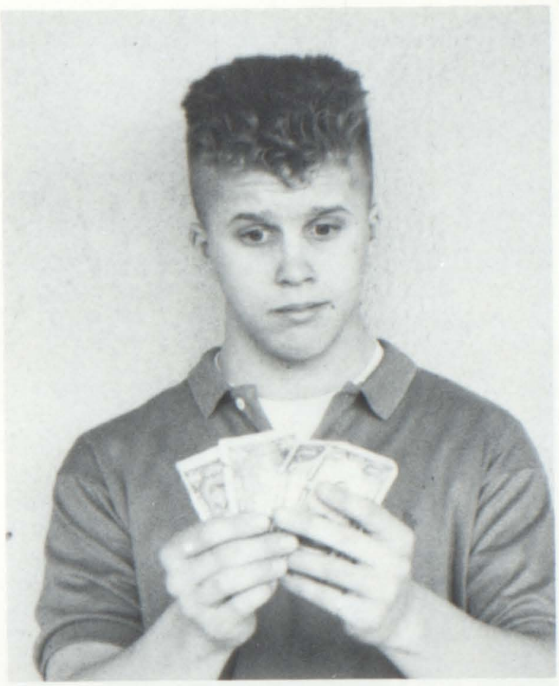
Heidi Anderson
ASB President

For the first time in Washington High's history, we had a junior as ASB President. Though she took a lot of criticism for her age, Heidi worked hard to achieve better communication with the student body and other MVAL schools. Heidi balanced her ASB duties with being a member of the Varsity Volleyball and Swimming teams and the junior Powerpuff Football team. She was also a member of the Hatchet staff. We hope to see Heidi's face on these pages again next year. Thanks.

Wade Slome
ASB Treasurer

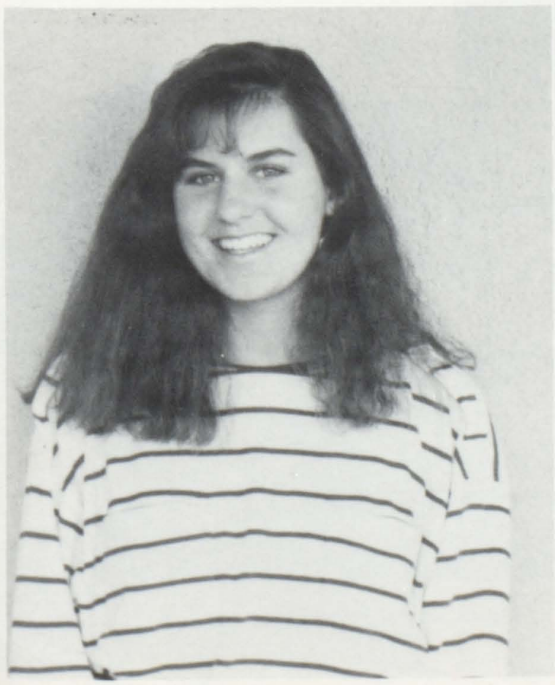
Wade Slome, our very talented ASB Treasurer, was a busy man himself. He spent much of his time on the courts as a member of the Varsity basketball and tennis teams. Wade also worked as a reporter for the Hatchet. Wade somehow managed to find the time to help student council members any anyone else in need. We're very grateful. Thanks, Wade.



Steve Emerson
ASB Vice- President

Steve Emerson spilt his time between being a member of the varsity football and track teams, a powderpuff cheerleader, a member of the yearbook staff, Mr. Husky for 1987-88, and a fantastic vice- president. Steve's sense of humor helped relieve some of the stress and tension of student council members. Steve worked hard for his V.P. title. He was president of the rep. assembly and was dedicated towards solving any problems that arose among students. We thank Steve for all of his help and devotion.

Megan Cavenaugh
ASB Secretary



Senior Megan Cavenaugh demonstrated her knack for working with people as ASB secretary. Megan could always be found volunteering to head committees. She devoted more than her share of time to the student body and her dedication was admired by all. Megan was a hot property! This year she was a member of the yearbook staff, the senior powderpuff team, and a homecoming princess. Thanks for all your support. We love you, Meg!

Senior Picnic

Class of 88 makes a big splash!

On a warm Wednesday morning in September, some 200 members of the Class of 88 piled onto 5 Royal Coach buses to begin their 1 hour ride to Oakwood Lake Resort in Manteca. The buses were full of excited chatter about the day ahead. Finally the buses pulled into the parking lot and the picnicers headed off to stand in line to have their all-day ride passes snapped to their wrist. The day began with volleyball, football, and sunbathing. Then the real fun began with the opening of the waterslides, rapids, turbo tube and the super slide. And what picnic would be complete without food! Barbequing, chips, ice cream, hamburgers,anything your tastebuds desired. Before the day was over, and everyone packed up their belongings and got ready for the long nap home, some unforgettable memories were made that will last forever.

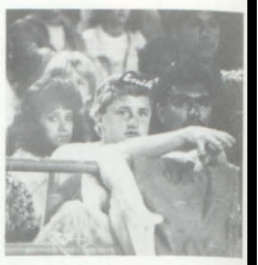
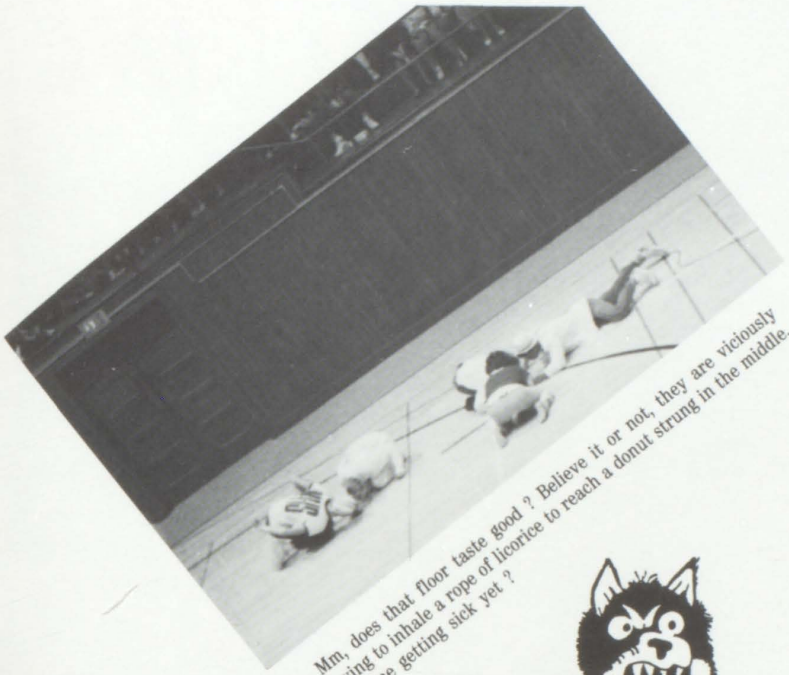
SPIRIT WEEK '87

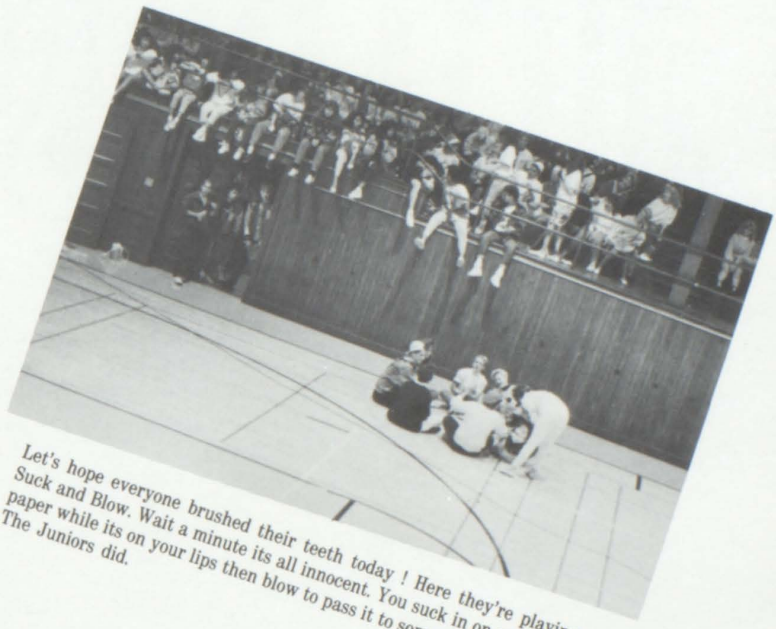


ASB RALLY IGNITES

SPIRIT WEEK

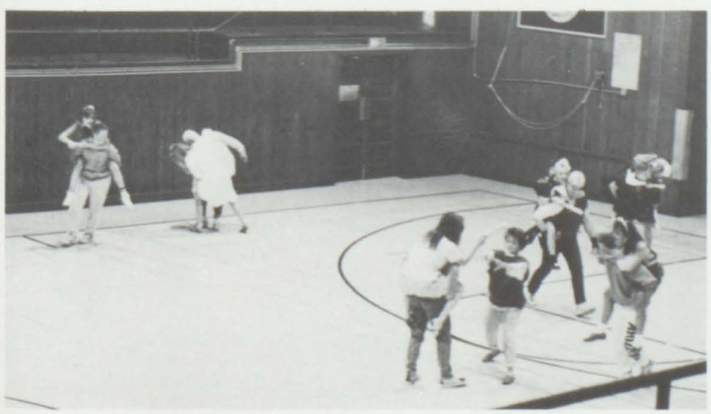


Mm, does that floor taste good ? Believe it or not, they are viciously trying to inhale a rope of licorice to reach a donut strung in the middle. Anyone getting sick yet ?



Let's hope everyone brushed their teeth today ! Here they're playing Suck and Blow. Wait a minute its all innocent. You suck in on a piece of paper while its on your lips then blow to pass it to someone else. Got it ? The Juniors did.

Spirit Week was kicked off by class "competitions." Each class had members participating to show whose spirit prevailed.



C'mon Eggheads! Armed with only a rolled newspaper contestents tried to smash a raw (yuk!) egg tied to everyones head.

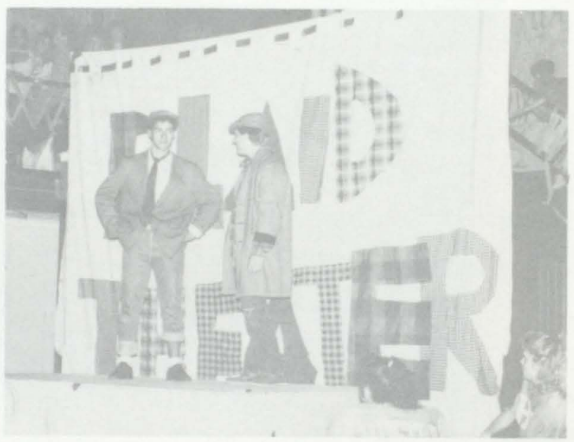
REVENGE OF THE JUNIORS 1987-1988

SPIRIT WE

This year, the Class of 1989 presented "Revenge of the Juniors", a spoof of "Revenge of the Nerds".

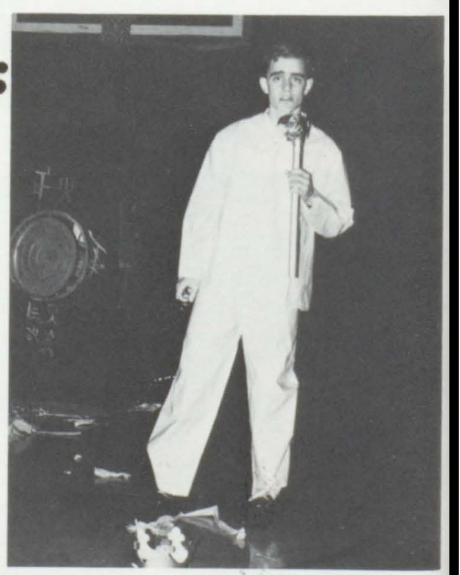
As it began, Spirit Week competitions were tough. The Seniors and the Juniors were tied. As the Juniors presented their awesome bond, W.H.S.'s homecoming rivals, the Newark Memorial Cougars, suddenly appeared and terrorized everything. It seemed spirit week was totally ruined. Then, amoung the rubble, our class president emerged. "I'm . . . I'm a Husky Junior and I'm proud of it!" These Cougars could trash our skits but they'd never trash our Husky Spirit! So, with their spirit held high, the W.H.S. Juniors continued their spirit week with pride. Great Job Juniors!

Scene 1 - It's the role reversal of the 80's! (or is it just ugly cheerleaders?) The girls call the shots as their guys cheer for them.



Scene 2 - Steve Hansen (l) and Craig Wilhelm (r) give us their "worst" in Jokes at the "Plaid Theatre"

Scene 3 - It's the nerdy toga - funk dance! Watch those Juniors jive!

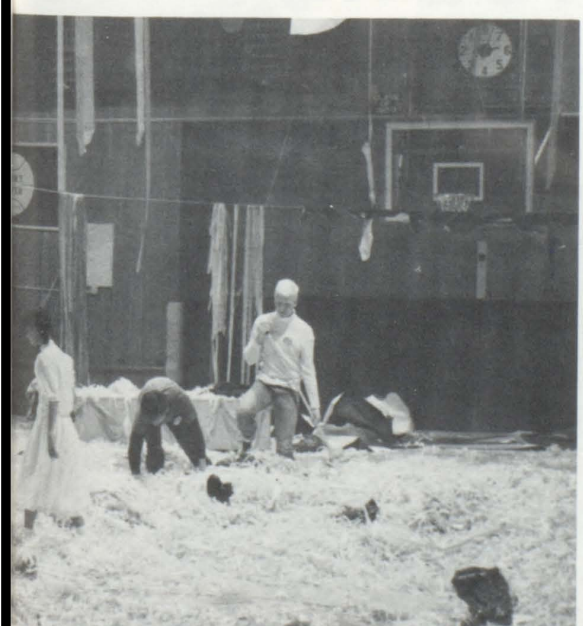


Scene 4 - It's our leader nerd, a.k.a., class president, Robby Simmerman, giving us his grand finale speech. "Why am I picked on? Just because I'm a Junior?"

'87

Each day of spirit week, the Juniors dressed in costume to show their enthusiasm.
Monday- clothes backwards day
Tuesday- Nerd Day proved to be the most hilarious Wednesday- Lumberjack Day let's gather round and sing - "I'm a lumberjack and I'm okay . . ."
Thursday- clothes-too-big-day
Friday- Kindergarten Day - the day we drove our teacher's crazy with kiddie antics.
(below)- After every skit, classes sit outside and have cheering matches.

Party time! After the skit is over, the juniors flock to center stage to engage in a wild tantrum of confetti throwing.



The party's over. It's time for the dirty work to begin. The gym must be spotless for tomorrows class skit. Blake Tinsley(center) is taking charge as he begins to sweep.

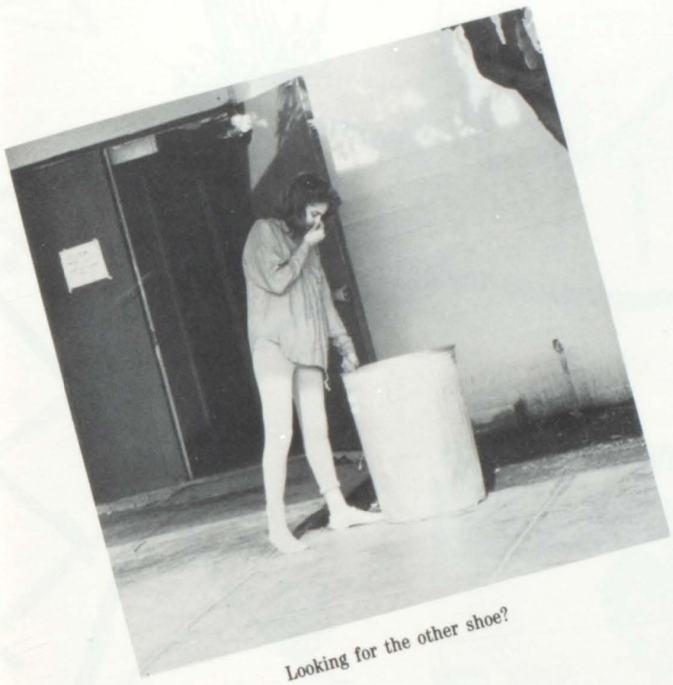
STAR SEARCH '87

The Freshmen skit "Star Search" was a great sucess, but we regret to inform you that the moment was not captured on Kodak film. Sorry, guys!

And now for more of that Frosh Spirit . . .



Looking for the other shoe?

The latest fashion- backwards!

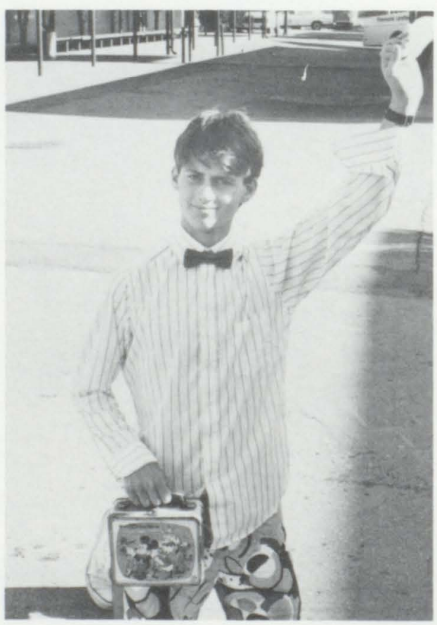
CLASS OF 91

WASHINGTON HIGH HUSKIES W

Just a bit tacky, don't ya think?

Sophomo

Can you spot the Sophomore?



High School sure is scary on "little kid" day. At least moms packed the Sophomores Peanut Butter and Jelly sandwiches to make it.

Hold on to your possessions on "Burglar Day!" You never know who's lurjing around the corner.

The class of 1990 was a success this year in Spirit Week. In the Sophomore's skit, a spoof of the "Wizard of Oz", Dorthy dreams she finds the Husky Spirit and saves the land of Oz from the wicked, Newark Memorial Cougars. Throughout the week, the Sophomores showed their spirit by dressing up. Monday was Tourist Day. Tuesday was Burglar Day. On Wednesday, students dressed as little kids. Thursday was skit day, and Friday was Garbage Bag Day.

Spirit

Only after the music for enrty stopped and people began to settle down in their seats, my nervous stomach settled. There I was, dressed in the proper attire of a "tomboy Dorthy" soon to be searching for the lost school spirit along with my friends, the Lion, the Tin Man, and the Scarecrow. Our lost spirit could only be replaced by the Wizard of Oz. I'm such a shy person I couldn't believe I was going to be performing in front of all the school. As the last few comments about the ugly girl in the orange dress were spewed out by upper classmen, I stepped into the spotlight. The skit was underway and the Sophomores ride into second place would be easy and well deserved.

-Joe Hedgecock
"Dorthy" in the Sophomore skit

"I'm GLAD to be a sophomore!" Class President, Gia Solari, shows her spirit on "Garbage Bad Day."

SENIOR STYLE:

WACKY BUT WINNING!

It's Larry, Curly, and Moe!

If you're happy (to be a senior) and you know it, clap your hands!

Couple of the year

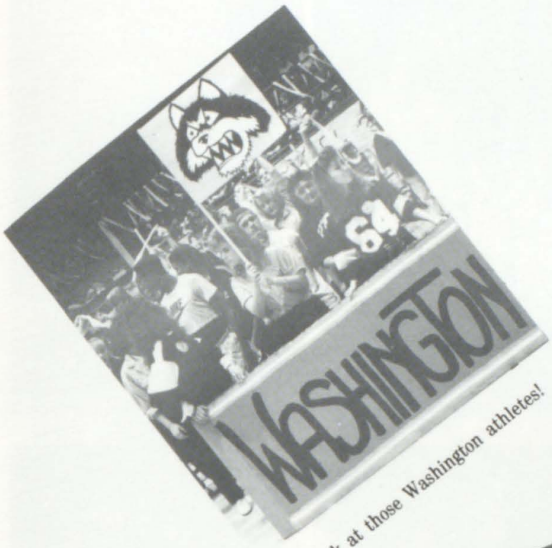
This year the seniors had quite a wild week. On Monday they dressed elegantly in Glad bags. Tuesday they flashed us with their trenchcoats. On Wednesday they were armed and ready for combat. Thursday they transformed into nerds, and Friday they presented their smashing skit!

Now isn't that just special?

Who let these people out?

Raise your hand if you're sure!

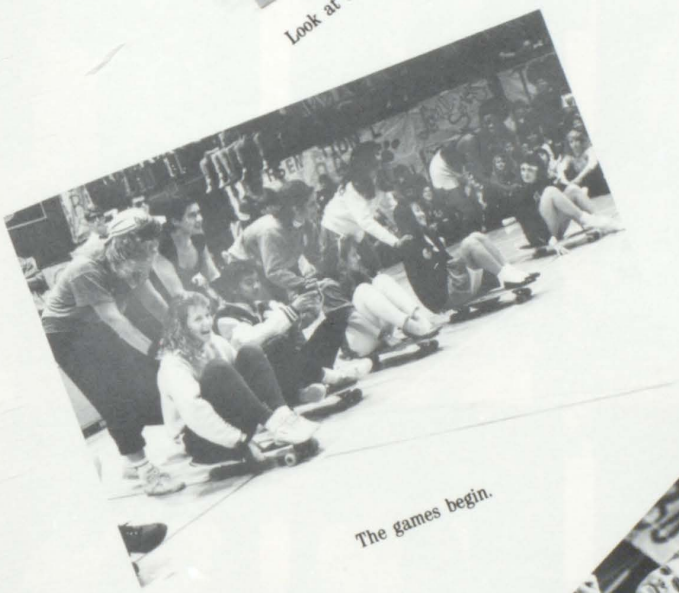
THE SENIOR CLASS PRESENTS THE 88 OLYMPIAD



Look at those Washington athletes!

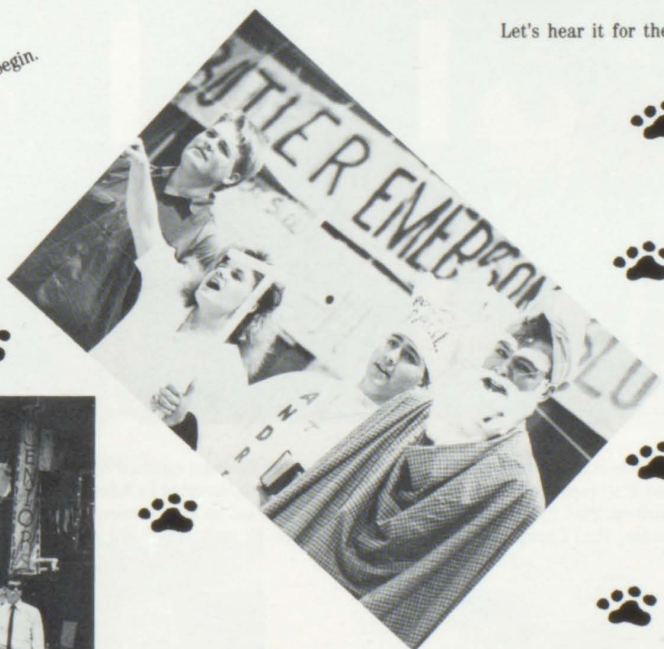
So fresh!

The Senior Class kicked off their skit with the lighting of the torch by Hank Husky. Although the judges were kidnapped and bribed, the Huskies pulled through and won the Gold!



The games begin.

Let's hear it for the judges!



Hail to the Pope!

Hank takes the Gold!

During his past four years at Washington High, Steve has taken an active role in preserving the class of 1988 spirit. He was vice-president of his Sophomore class and on Student Council as ILC representative his Junior year. He has spent two years both as an editor of the Hatchet and on the Representative Assembly. This year, Steve is ASB vice-president. He also spent time playing sports as a member of varsity football and track. Thanks, Steve for all your time and hard work! Go Stevo!

GAME 1987

This year the Huskies tried to "Cage the Cougars" but didn't quite succeed. Although they didn't win, the Huskies did not walk away frowning. The winners of Spirit Week were announced and the Homecoming Queen was crowned. This put excitement back in the air. The Seniors took 1st place, the Sophmores 2nd place, the Juniors 3rd, and the Freshmen last.

The Flutes

Throughout the year, the band has made it to the football and basketball games. The band also plays in concerts at school and in concerts with other school bands. The band has decreased in number but is still very much alive. Susan Wu, the Drum Majorette says, "We're like a little family, that has to stick together, if one person is missing from a game, it makes a big difference."

The band is part of the few traditions at Washington that still exist. Hopefully next year, there will be more members to take the place of the departing seniors.

SENIORS

The Washington High school choir has grown immensly. Five years agothere were only nineteen students in choir, now (both chiors combined) there are about seventy stucents. The people in choir range from students who have never sung before to students who have been in choir for years. Choir is not just singing church songs, but songs ranging from pop to classical. During class, students learn to sing scales and also read choral music. Hte choir does local productions including singing at elementary school assemblies. Students in regular choir can audition for Advanced choir.

The choir has been busy this year with their winter and spring concerts. Perhaps you saw them sing "The Wiz" during the play "Christmas in the Land of Oz."

A day in choir is filled with hard work and fun. Exercising the voice through scales and full songs. To be in choir you need to enjoy singing. If you've been singing in the car with the radio, maybe you would be a good candidate for this group.

BEST OF FRIENDS

What An Act!

This years fall drama production was the humorous and touching Best of Friends. The play was student directed by senior, Vicki Duthler, who also played the role of the Daryl Stoddard, the young girlfriend of main character Archer Connaught.

The play is set in the year 1969 and centers around a famous writer, Archer Connaught(sophomore Kevin McClennen), who has supposedly been killed in a plane crash. While his wife and children are still trying to swallow the news of his death, they are pestered by a timid lawyer representing MGM (senior, Brant Smith), who attempts to convince the family to waiver the movie rights for the life story of the deceased writer. During his pleas to gain the family's consent, the very alive Archer walks in with his girlfriend who was said to have died in the plane crash with him. Josie, Archer's wife (senior, Jenny Meyer) announces that she and Archer were never legally married. The news throws the family into mayhem and brings about the search for their marriage certificate to prove that she is lying. The search brings to the surface several other secrets and some unexpected twists to the story.

The CLOSE-UP program is a week of fun learning about our government in Washington D.C. and colonial government in Williamsburg.

Students stay in a major hotel during the week with students from other parts of the country. In workshops led by Close-Up program instructors and in numerous seminars, the core of our government is presented. But most of the learning comes from discussions between fellow students.

While studying the government, students are also treated to the monumental beauty of the capital. Sight seeing is a major part of the week. In fact, one day of the week, is a free day, and students can do anything and go anywhere in the city.

To contrast modern government from colonial government, the gruop will visit Williamsburg, VA. There, special historical guides will lead the gruop on the tour on the town. Williamsburg is special because the whole town is still set in the 1700's. People there still wear colonial attire, and have colonial occupations-like being a blacksmith or an apothecary.

The week ends with a special dinner and dance.

For people interested in learning all about our federal government, this program is ideal. Not only is the instruction intense, but it is also fun. Who can ask for more?

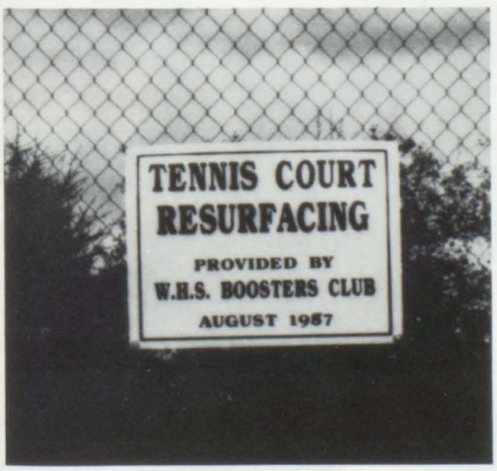
PTSA President - Joyce Wallace

The Washington High School PTSA has made great strides this year to help improve the school surroundings. The School Spruce Up Fund was set up through donations by parents wishing to help better Washington's facilities. PTSA has also remained an ever important part of our Friday mornings by selling donuts.

BOOSTERS



The Husky Boosters Club is a group of parents who actively all the sports programs here at Washington High. Their great dedication has provided much needed equipment and improvements to facilities. The organization is able to raise the money which goes to the athletes through annual fees, flee markets and their gala spagetti dinner which occurs in the spring. We thank the boosters club for all their support and are sorry to report that we were unable to obtain any pictures of them.

The Yearbook Staff 1987-1988

To anyone who wasn't around room 81 this year during 6th period, the word pica would seem foreign and sound like a sort of complex new dive. But, to the staff of the Washingtonian, this harmless little word conjures up some not-so-small nightmares.

There were many things to be done, and not always enough time to do them. Unexpected problems continually cropped up; missing pages, missed deadlines, etc. Having enough pictures; having right pictures: or just plain having the pictures even turn out were just a few of our reasons to be excited.

Layout sheets, orange wax pencils, porportion wheels, and the dreaded double paged spreads hung heavy on our minds as we rushed despretely to meet deadlines.

With occasional encourging words from Mr. Brower, our advisor, and the not-so-occasional nudge from our editors, we scratched out mistakes, crancked out copy, and even sacrificed our "periodical celebrations" to get it all done.

Left- Hmmm Baby!

Peering around the locker room after our last game, I realized something very special. In the past four years, we have grown from the individual into a united team. The locker room was filled with laughs, the slapping of high fives, singing and a general atmosphere of admiration and respect.

There have always been those individuals less bright, less athletic, and less liked than others, that the team would try to make them feel out of place and unwanted. The making fun through physical and mental abuse had gone on for three and a half years but I could see it had all stopped. The jokes and the teasing were still there but with a greater levity than before. The jokes were just for laughs, not to hurt someone's feelings. Looking back as Freshmen we finished fifth. As sophomores our JV team took the league championship, an LC that will stick in our minds and on our varsity jackets forever. As juniors, our first divided year, some played JV and the rest varsity which finished second. This, our last year, we finished a disappointing third, but as far as the team was concerned, again we were all winners, a swan song worthy of remembering.

I'd like to close our varsity room doors with some humorous things that helped get us through the year.

Coach I's words to live by:

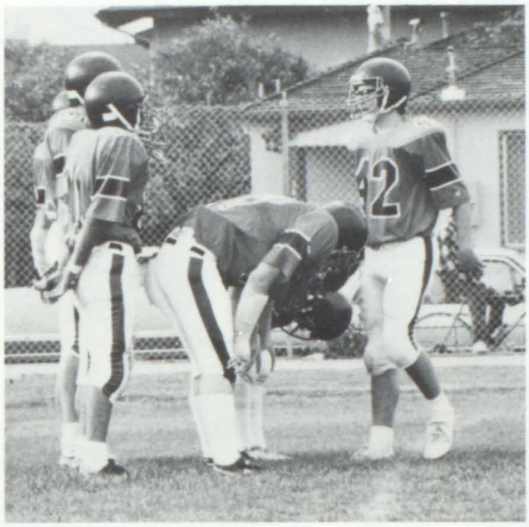
FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

They Made Us Wear Ties!

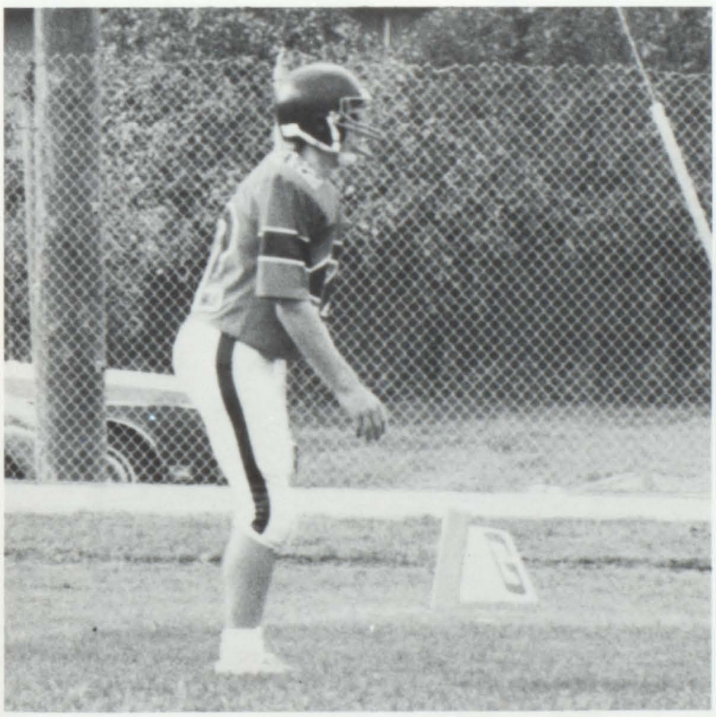


Eric Byers telling the pups what the play is going to be.

Playing Freshman Football this year was a lot of fun for me. Since this was my first year, I had a lot to learn, but it was a great experience. Coach Harrington and his assistant coaches Riddle, Dugan, Tabler and Baxter, had a big job ahead of them at the beginning of the school year. They had to take thirty freshmen, many of whom had never played organized football before, and mold them into a team in a few short weeks. Our record was 5-2, with our losses coming from the strong Mission and Logan teams. Our final game of the season was a 28-6 victory over Kennedy. There was a lot of team spirit present and every player gave 100%. Everyone played well together as a team with no one player trying to be a star.

Paul Wenger, who played running back and corner back brought experience and a good example to the team. He had previously played Fremont Football for four years.

John McWilliams, receiver, led the freshmen team in touchdown. Brandon Kelly, starting quarterback, brought experienced leadership to the team.



Coach Joe Dugan looks after his young team.

Bump, Set, Spike! Varsity volleyball is a smash! This year's team provided me with spectacular spikes, sensational saves and a strong sense of team spirit.

Memories bombard me as I recall those close games and of course, that fantastic tournament we attended.

Driving to Milpitas for the Milpitas Friendship Tournament and playing all day was a definite growing experience. The team started off kind of slow, but as the day wore on we loosened up and began playing beautifully.

We hit hard, dutifully dug and saved those broken plays. We dove, smashed and blocked our way to winning the 1st place trophy.

That was one of the greatest moments this season. Our tournament play was great and we gained a tremendous team spirit.

That will be highly missed when we loose Seniors next year, but hopefully we will keep going strong and keep together.

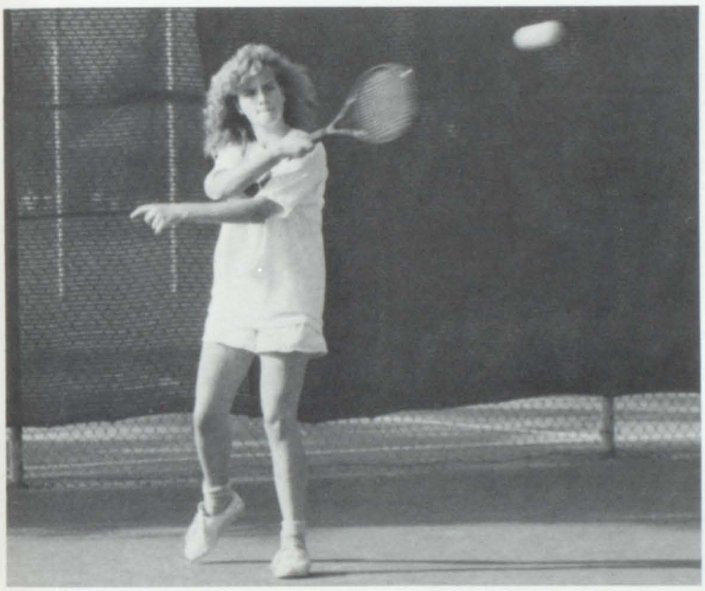
GIRLS TENNIS

Quality service is job won!

The 1987 Washington High varsity girls tennis team showed their strength in the MVAL once again this year. The team, led by Coach Mike Hankin, ended their season in third place behind Mission and Moreau, with a record of 9 wins and 5 losses, their losses coming to Mission, Moreau and American. Though inexperienced, the teams talent and determination to win, carried them through. Senior, an 4 time letterman, Lori Holding, took the hot seat at the fil singles position. Juniors Tina Varkey and Toby Shimizu, along with Sophomore Stacy Vylasek, controled the other three singles positions. Seniors Melina Calara and Tricia Wallace paired up to lead the doubles contingent followed by the teams of Sandra Kim (Jr.) and May-tyan Wong (Jr.) and Tiffany Winger (Fr.) and Beth Marshall (Jr.).

Competition for the 10 JV positions was fierce this year among a team which numbered 20. The superb talent of the team carried them to fi2 in the MVAL, runner up to the only team that beat them, Mission. The strong showing made by this young team, made up mostly of Freshmen and Sophomores, makes the future look bright for the team in the years to come.



Sophomore Stacy Vylasek, displays her concentration on her face as she returns the ball to her opponent with a forehand.

Juniors May-tyan Wong and Sandra Kim walk off the court after a lengthy match. The doubles pair had a great season, pulling off wins whenever the team needed it.

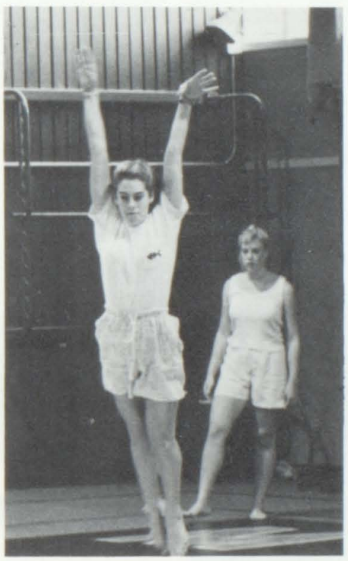
Are you sure I'm supposed to do this for two hours?



I didn't know learning to fly was so hard.

Stephanie Vollmer brought in a respectable 2nd place all-around title at MVAL finals, Nov. 6th at Logan High School with a AA score of 36.05. Stephanie came in just a mere .3 below MSJ- Siri Cota who is a Jr. Olympic Elite.

Both the Varsity and JV teams did excellent jobs on all events. The varsity team came in 2nd place overall and JV tied for third with Logan.

Jennifer Jeffries, the Varsity gymnastics "Freshman Puppy" had an AA score of 32.95. Jill Kazares had an AA score of 30.6, was topped by an 8.3 floor exercise. Senior and 4-year gymnast, Lisa Pastrone, had an AA score of 29.3 with a yami-vault score of 8.6.

JV's Amy Koncky and Maria Gonzales scored all-around totals of 30.1 and 30.9 respectively.

. You're sure someone has done this before?

WATER POLO

Head And Shoulders Above The Rest

This year marked the second year of the Washington High School water polo team. Water polo is not a recognized sport in the MVAL so no other MVAL schools have an organized team. As a result, Washington competed in a league with 7 other schools from the Amador Valley.

Though water polo is a male dominated sport, there was one girl who dared to enter the pool with her male counterparts, sophomore, Bridget Elola. Bridget said being on the team had both its advantages and disadvantages. She was able to proudly say that she was the only girl on the team, there was not, however, any other girls to be around at practices. She found that her opponents were more apologetic when aggressively guarding her than they were against the rest of the team.

CROSS COUNTRY

On The Right Foot

Ready, Set, GO! Wait are these guys really ready to start the race?

The highlight of this seasons Cross Country team for Washington was Junior sensation Alyssa Martinez. She posted impressive wins over schools to propel the girls varsity to NCS. She was the MVAL's 5th best runner. Other contributing girls runners were junior, Stacy Fern and senior Wan-Hsin Feng who improved greatly over last season.

The boys on the other hand faired as best they could. With a shortage of runners on the varsity squad, the boys could run, but hardly contend with the other MVAL powerhouses. Lee Madrid and Jeff Poulsen carried most of the varsity bulk. The Frosh-Soph team placed second in the MVAL with a gutsy performance at the MVAL finals. Next years varsity should be strong with the upcoming runners.

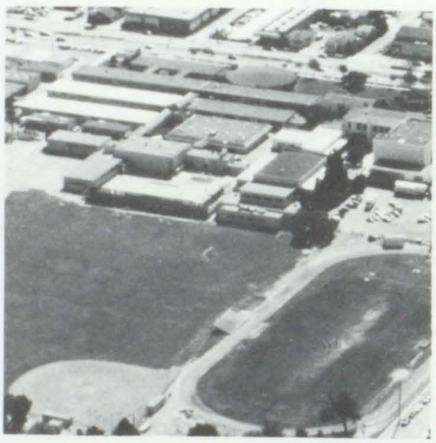
LIFE STYLES OF THE ORANGE and BLACK!

On tonight's show, Life Styles of the Orange and Black, we are going to visit the Wahington Villa, located on beautiful downtown Fremont's auto row. You'll see the spacious, luxurious facilities, the handsome guest cottages, and VIP suites and the five star dining rooms. All these and many other amenities are nestled near the hub of one of the most pleasant suburbs of this great nation.

The Washington Villa has had a great and illustrious past. This historical hostelry was founded in 1891 when it was the only such establishment in all of southern Alameda county. The first caretaker, William Wentworth, during his first year of operation had only 22 guests visit. Since then, the Villa's popularity and renown have spread worldwide. Today, the Villa accomodates nearly 1400 guests at one time. So great is the Villa's fame that second and third generations of families come "to take the waters".

We begin our journay at Reed Hillview International Airport from which the Orange and Black jaunt off to romantic hideaways. As we proceed to our craft, the pilot makes the final adjustments. Here's Dave as he prepares to board the plane.



As we approach the Villa, we are greeted by handsome aerial views of the beautiful edifices of this spacious and comodious environs. Even from the air, one can note a myriad of amenities to accomodate the multitude of different activities one can engage in while visiting the Villa. You will note the Olympic pool and diving arena, the world class astro-turfed coliseum, the ample parking facilities and the championship tennis courts where pro coaching is available. The beautiful polo fields and Queen's mewes are located to the east of the main grounds and offer the possibilities of many equestrian activities to delight any guest.

Not all the guests of the Villa arrive by plane. Some come by distinctively painted, modern buses, bicycles, skateboards, or on foot using the scenic hiking trails that lead to and surround the grounds. Others come from their private chateaus in the area conveyed directly to the entry door by chauffeur driven limousines.

Dave debarks from his plane and ambles toward the guest reception area. One will note the great air of expectancy and anticipation which is evident on the faces of the guests as they arrive. What new delights will this visit bring? Which famous individuals will be joining the guest list during this sojourn? What challenging and delightful activities and experiences have the staff of the Villa planned? Only time will tell!

In the colonnade Dave is greeted by the head receptionist, Marilyn, whose concierge's desk is located just inside the foyer. The Villa maintains a copious staff of expertly trained and exceedingly hospitable employees who have no other purpose than to cater to every need and whim of each and every on of the honored guests.

Directly upon his arrival, Dave's bags are places in his own personal compartment equipped with a computerized access code for his convience and protection. At this time, he receives his own souvenir copy of the Villa guest handbook and schedule of activities. These publications will enable him to carefully make an individualized plan of activities which he will follow during his stay and which will guarantee that he can take advantage of every one of the numerous activities available for his edification and enjoyment. He will take this with him when he returns home as a treasured momento of his memorable stay.

Once Dave and the other guests are equipped with their brochures, they are ready to receive personal attention fromthe Villa's highly qualified and personable camp counselors, Bill, Beth, Carolyn and

Kay, whose job it is to make certain that every individual guest is totally aware of each and every option available for his enlightenment, recreation and amusement during his stay. Personalized attention is one of the fundamental guarantees that each guest can anticipate receiving during his stay . . .

So much to do in so little time. Dave scarcely knows what to do first!

Thanks to the caring attention of the camp advisors, Dave could get a quick schedule change so that his scuba lesson won't conflict with his massage if need be.

In the unlikely event that a guest has a problem which the camp counselors cannot rectify, he would be referred to the always ready management staff. Any difficulty which a guest may encounter would be treated with the untmost care and consideration.

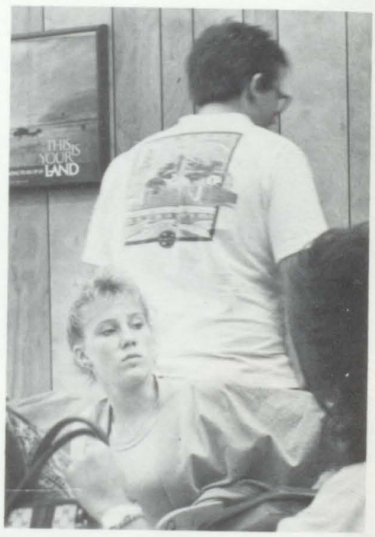
The highly skilled security staff, Dave, Mike and Russ are available to subdue any individual who might get a little over-exuberant or carried away by the moments excited anticipation. A harmonious equilibrium is the goal of the entire community at all times. Each and every guest can relax assured that he will have total security during his stay. In the unlikely event that a guest may have an unresolved problem, he may go directly to the manager, Daryl. Guests may wait in comfort while their room reservations, activity schedules, etc. are attended to. Daily surveillance of building and grounds is guaranteed for the comfort of each and every guest.

During his stay, Dave has an exorbitant number of departments to choose from. He can hobnob with the literary genuises of the English staff or quietly spend his time learning the difference between an apositive and a conjunctive verb phrase, or, should he prefer, he might just bask in the intellectual glory of such famous literary giants as Twain and Homer.

Perhaps Dave wants to get caught up on current events or just wants to know more about past occurrences, where would he go? Why, the social science department, where else? There Dave would find an enthusiastic crowd of history minded instructors with which he could strike up a leisurely conversation on anything from the Golden Age of ancient Greece to the U.S. Constitutional convention; or from Reagan's supply side economic theories to the upcoming presidential campaign.

Washington's illustrious mathematics department includes the teachings of such math greats as Pythagoras, Euclid, Leibniz and Birkhoff. He could learn how to use trigonometric functions to design a new multi-million dollar skyscraper. Perhaps Dave would like to start off at a little slower pace. He has many classes to choose from on all different levels of learning from consumer math to calculus.

If Dave ever wanted to brush up on his French, Spanish or German, he would head for the foreign language department. It is important to keep up his fluency for his many excursions to the beautiful beaches of the French Riviera or the Sun sparkled city of Mazatlan.



As Dave knows, what goes up must come down. But who's better to prove this than the Washington High science department??? These brilliant scholars, each with a PhD, are just the men to see if he has any questions about physics, chemistry or biology. These prestigious researchers have such zeal for what they are doing, that it makes visiting Washington's laboratories a wry delight in the pursuit of scientific knowledge.

There's no rest for Dave as he rushes off hurriedly to the business wing. Once there, he may learn the tedious method of balancing a checkbook which he might need to know should he ever fall from the graced ranks of the orange and black, the rich and famous. Or he could practice his keyboarding skills in case he dismisses his private secretary. Dave could even learn the latest computerized accounting procedures in order to keep track of his many millions.

When the sun reaches its pinacle and each guest's hunger has peaked, visitors find the villa fully outfitted to meet every culinary desire. Savor from the selection of mealtime delicacies delivered daily by the finest food services available anywhere in the world. This may be done while enjoying the atmosphere of our secluded dining areas. The formal dining room, constructed in the early years of this century is embellished with a circa 1900 French stained window, oval cove ceiling and elaborately ornamented shell niches. This salon is furnished with fine oak tables. Surely one could never seek a finer place in which to engage in leisurely dining and thoughtful conversation. Frequently the moderate climate of the region will beckon diners to relax over a less formal meal in the pleasant patio area furnished with hand carved 19th century redwood tables. In this area the luncheon fare includes a wide selection of appetizers, light snacks, beverages, and hors d'oeuvres to tantalize the most discriminating palate. If a little exercise is required to stimulate the appetite, one may stroll a short distance to dine at Fremont's world renowned filet mignon on a bun restaurant, shouting the claim, 'over 1 billion served'. Popular especially amoung Washington's younger villagers, its location makes it accessible and its cuisine irresistable.

At Washington Villa, we have come to realize that there is much more to lunchtime break than the sun in the sky and a mouthful of caviar. This is why we've searched all four corners of the globe to bring about the earth's finest, most entertaining prandial activities. Whether the animal in you lures you to a playful game of volleyball with your fellowcampers or to a duel of wits in Washington's own Brain Bowl competitions, you'll be sure to satisfy the competitive nature within yourself. Or, if competition isn't your cup of tea, unwind in our patio area and enjoy the soothing tones of our very own airbands.

One of the most eagerly anticipated aspects of a stay at Washington Villa is participation in activities in the resort and recreational areas. Night life is extremely enticing to guests. Either as a spectator or as a participant, visitors find a varied program offered for their sampling.

At our lovely resort hotel, we have been fortunate in obtaining a cheering squad. This group is there to promote spirit and cheer on the many competitions and activities that take place during the days and nights. Guests may observe the letter squad and spirit leaders rehearsing their cheers and songs each day.

The Villa is fortunate to have on it's staff the world acclaimed theatrical director, Richard B., who directs famous stage actors and actresses in rave review performances in the unique theatre 202 or the intimate Room 82. There's always time to enjoy the finer things in life which is precisely why we have our troop of talented actors performing nightly in the exclusive Room 82 Club. Get your reservations early, however, as this group of individuals is steadily growing in popularity.

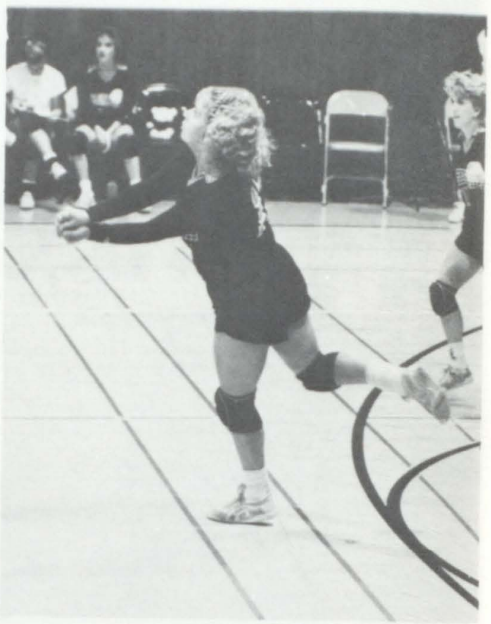
The resident orchestra plays a wide variety of music selected to add to the ambience of each social occasion. Each member is a master on his particular instrument and the conductor is a graduate of Oberlin. Choral music is also available to soothe or excite the guests depending upon the activity at hand.

Sports follow the seasons catering to the athletic desires of each and every individual who wishes to participate. Offerings run the gambit: football, tennis, volleyball, track, swimming, badminton, wrestling, basketball, polo, archery. golf. soccer, skiing, and so on. For those who prefer a more cerebral form of athletic endeavor, chess is available. A highly trained and ezperienced staff of coaches and trainers who have an amazinglt prolific history of winning seasons develop the greatest potential in every participant. Guests at the villa may hone their skills in almost any activity they might care to try.

The Washington Villa offers an extensive physical fitness program to satisfy the needs and wants of every guest. From aerobics to swimming to tennis, they've got it all. The Villa is even home to a private health spa which includes a weight room where you can tone up and get back into shape. Our staff of friendly professionals will oversee your exercise program and develop it to your specific needs.

You say your Rolls overheated on your journey to the Villa? Well, never fear. Our trained mechanics can get you back on the road in no time. If you seem to have some faulty wiring in the television set in the back of your private limosine, our electronics experts can straighten that out and get you vertical hold back to normal in no time. Our staff will fulfill your every need from building a set of shelves for your suite to drafting the plans for your new summer cottage. They've got it all.

The Washington Villa staff employs a number of photographers to help capture your stay on film. Don't be surprised if you find yourself in one of the publications produced here. The memories captured by our photographers have a way of showing up on the pages of our popular bi-weekly periodical, The Hatchet, or in the more extensive Washingtonian where we try to immortalize each and every guest on the pages of this treasured book.



Guests at the Washington Villa will discover that each and every day's activities are carefully planned to culminate in one grand and glorious concluding series of activities which include a formal grand ball and celebration. Most guests plan their stay to last four years, however, a selected few enjoy their stay so immensely that they remain for the additional enjoyment of an extra year of residency.

Whatever the duration, the concluding activities include a number of gala events. There is a huge ticker-tape parade in which most all of the guests participate. There is an exchange of friendly gestures between those leaving and their new found friends.

Oh, but the best is yet to come! A festive ceremony is staged to say au revoir to those patrons who are completing their memorable and satisfying stay. Complete with costumes and balloons, this final culminating activity is sure to be a moment treasured forever by those leaving the Villa. Special awards are made by the staff to a select few who have especially enhanced the Villa or added to its renown by their achievements during their stay. A lively round of speeches and pats-on-the-back are given before a widely receptive crowd. So pleasant are these final moments that guests invite their special friends and family members to share the moment with them.

Parting after this festive celebration causes some of the guests not only to look back fondly on the time that they spent at Washington Villa but also perhaps to shed a few bittersweet tears because their stay has come to an end. All will leave feeling that this visit has imparted to them many diverse benefits. For most guests, they will go away appreciating new found talents within themselves and feeling enriched by the experiences and associations they have made while there. Certainly they will, in years to come, look back on their stay at Washington Villa as perhaps their finest hour!!!

The biggest goal in your life is the acquiring of a driver's license which you are sure will help boost you up the ladder toward young adulthood.

The always important superficial image is a must at this point of your life. This is a time when you feel the need to fit in. You havn't yet established your individuality or are too insecure to let it show thru. This time is very confusing and it seems as though it will never end. Then one day you wake and you no longer feel caught between to worlds. You've become more secure and mature and are now ready to shed the label "Tweener".

The story of Lifestyles of the Orange and Black, which is found on the previous pages, is a parady of the TV show Lifestyles of the rich and famous. This is the script put together by students and faculty which made up the basis for the slide show presentation Washington High made to the school board in March. Many people worked many hours to complete it: Megan Cavenaugh, Greg Leonard, Heidi Anderson, Tricia Wallace, Steve Emerson, Brant Smith, Mrs. Polland, Mr. Ficken and Mr. Bray under the watchful eyes of Dr. Talken and Mr Mangini. Their hard work paid off thru the praise received from the school board. Their final masterpiece deserves to be remembered.

Junioritus-

mind on school. You are surrounded by seniors seemingly breezing though school and all you can think of is that there is another whole year ahead to tackle. Pressure for grades, SAT's, Achievements weigh on you like a brick. You think about college and your head begins to spin with all the questions that come rushing over you. You feel as though you're swimming, struggling to reach the top and take a breath, but no matter how hard you try, you feel yourself drowning. You've come through so many years of school and now you're so close to the end, but yet so far.

But don't worry, though it seems hopeless, this disease has never been known to be fatal. It clears up around the end of June and then it won't be long before spring rolls around again and you feel yourself infected again, but this time, you laugh.

into the American High rotunda; fear, doom, nervousness, fatigue, nausea, (you may want to make a stop at the bathroom to throw-up one last time before you take the test). The test begins and your head becomes filled with geometric equations, analogies and vocabulary. When the three hours have past, your brain has turned to jello and your only thought is to go home, eat and sleep. Many people feel if they don't score well on their college boards they won't get into college. Thought hey carry a lot of weight, many other considerations go into the acceptance decision. So when you take the test, relax. It's only a test.

Summer of Change-

It's hard to explain this phenomenum o those who have not yet experienced it. When you get there you'll understand.

Sr. Most Memorable Moments-

Suzy Monlux - Chris Durie directing traffic in the hallway freshmen year when it was raining.
Sanjay Kurani - Venkat Memula passing during our US History final our junior year giving us all a chance to pass.
Lisa Arhontes - Falling asleep looking into a microscope in biology and then again in typing after having stayed awake then whole night before the sophomore skit.
Rick Lu - When my locker got burnt out junior year and my books started growing mold after suffering water damage.
Jason Blazick - Un chat in French II.
Bill Harrison - Being a coach for Powderpuff junior and senior year
Jill McBride, Janet Davis, Halla Hallsteinsson, Renate Gilkyson - We all just happened to get sick on the same day and went to see our doctors in Santa Cruz.
Russ Mackie - imitating the Beastie Boys in airband.
Eric Cruzada - Getting first place in pole vaulting over Logan sophomore year.
Suzanne Schraeder - Being target practice for the seniors on the bench freshmen year.
Rich Yu, Rick Lu, Sanjay Kurani, Bill Harrison, Mihir Amin - TPing Tricia Wallace's house with a record 96 rolls!

We laughed, we cried, our lives here are done,
Knowledge, friendships, and victories we've won.
Time has come and to friends-good-bye,
But we'll reunite, who knows when, where, or why.
Our lives have just begun, despite how it seems,
It's time to brighten the world and manufacture your dreams.

To the Class of 88 - I'll never forget the good times and the triumphs we've shared. I'll miss you all . . . well most of you. Lisa Carey- We've made it through some good times and bad times, even the summer of '86. Thanks for everything. What would I have done without you. Jason B.- Every year at St. Patrick's Day and every time I hear a cat meow, I'll think of you. Stop being my lowly, unsocial friend. Matt Bell- You're still the nicest guy who ever broke my heart. Megan C.-
from diapers to diplomas, I hope we always stay close. Rick Lu- Blah! You can TP my house any time. Lisa, Lisa, Lisa, Mitch, Suzanne, Kim, Suzy, Monique, Brant, Sanjay, Rich, Larry and the rest of the 50's wing geeks, this is for all the times I never said I love you, Thank you or I'm sorry. Mom and Dad, I love you! It's finally over. Goodbye Washington. I'll always be a Husky!

Tricia Wallace

Four scores and seven years ago . . . wait, wrong speech. I don't think I need to state the obvious of how much fun it's been or express my endless gratitude to everyone. Rick, 42 and 36 feet of hanging fury. Mitch, get a tan. Hernan, M-series. Laurent, BMWS 0, CHAMPS 434. Brant, it's symbolic and ideal. Sanjay, grow up already. Mihir, grow a beard. Doug, learn to drive. Arthur, CalTech or bust. Bill, when are we going skiing? Trish, don't take life so seriously. Matt, your male lover. Carey, you are scary.
To any and everyone else in my life, we apologize for the inconviences.
Last, but not least, a joke: Two birds are up in a tree. One bird says to the other, "It's so hard to be a bird nowadays! I just got layed off my job."
The second bird says, "Yeah, I know what you mean."
Suddenly, a toaster flew by.
Yu, Richard

Thanks Huskies you're awesome. Kris you're the best, right on. Rick I'll never forget you. Danny you're the greatest. The arguments, the laughter, you'll always be my bud. I'll sing for you someday. The greatest teacher ever, Mr. Koski. Mom and Dad, I love you. Goodbye Washington.

Love,
Kathy

Can you pass this College Entrance Exam?
TRUE FALSE
I'm not worried about how high my scores will be on the SAT and ACT tests.
I'm positive the college I really want to attend will accept me.
My high school grades are high enough to impress college admissions departments.
These aren't the usual kinds of questions you get on a college entrance test. Yet, they're every bit as important. Because if you answered even one "false," there's a good chance you could use some help getting into college.
Sylvan College Prep Program
INCREASE SAT/ACT SCORES
Who is it for? High school students who want to get into the four-year college of their choice and do well once they get there.
How long does it take? We recommend two hours each week. Sessions can be scheduled after school, in the evenings and on Saturdays.
DEVELOP STUDY SKILLS
How do I enroll? You start the Sylvan College Prep Program by taking a skills audit. It reveals your current strengths, while pinpointing any problems that need special attention. Based on this profile, Sylvan's professional staff will put together a study plan personalized for you.
